THIRTEEN DEAD
IN PRISON RIOT

windows. One of the guards who escaped execution by carrying an ultimatum from Daniels to the Warden described the scene inside the cell house. The guards were asked first if they had said their prayers and then shot down where they stood without a chance to defend themselves.

On the side of law and order Josephine Roche, Secretary to the Warden, and Father Patrick O'Neill, Prison Chaplain, were the surviving heroes of the riots.

Remained at Post.
Miss Roche remained at her post during the early stages of the outbreak and had the presence of mind to call for the Canon City High School's R. O. T. C. unit to supplant the work of prison guards until Warden Crawford could return to the prison from a business trip to Colorado Springs. Upon his arrival he called for National Guard airplanes, an Howitzer company from the state militia and organized a citizen's unit of 500 men who stood guard outside the prison during the rest of the battle.

Father O'Neill's opportunity for heroism came when the Warden called for a volunteer to carry a charge of dynamite to the base of the convict's fortress through the exposure of the prison yard.

Many felt that the assignment meant certain death for the man who undertook it, but Father O'Neill came forward without hesitation.

"Let me go," he said. "I can't stand watching this any longer."

The National Guardsmen laid down a barrage of machine gun fire to cover the priest's movements. He carried one charge of dynamite to a corner of the cell house. It failed to explode.

Machine Gun Barrage.
Then another barrage was laid down and the Chaplain placed the dynamite close to the west wall of the cell house. It tore a great hole in the earth and shattered the windows of the prison.

With each blast or fusillade of gunfire shrieks came from the rear of the cell house, where approximately 150 prisoners covered in fear after refusing to take part in little Danny Daniels' "party."

Earlier in the troubled night Danny had appeared before them in the uniform of one of the guards he had captured and tried to induce them to join him and his five companions who at that time were holding a total of 16 guards as hostages.

Of that number seven were murdered, including J. J. Eiles, the prison hangman and the oldest guard at the institution; four were wounded and five were set free to carry the bodies of the comrades and terms of peace back to prison officials.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness shown us in our recent bereavement, also for the beautiful floral offerings.

ed Hazelwood and the general feeling is that Dixon is very fortunate that in the transfer of the property it has fallen into the hands of a man who has demonstrated such friendliness and loyalty to his home of years ago.

Some months ago Mr. Walgreen donated to this city a fine airport which he intends to equip and maintain for Dixon's benefit. Mr. Walgreen, before he started the development of his great drug store chain, operated a drug store in Dixon. His sister, Mrs. F. X. Newcomer, is a resident of this city.

ATTACKED BY ANGRY BULL
James P. McCoy of Walton was attacked by an angry bull at one of his farms in Marion township yesterday afternoon and experienced a narrow escape from being gored to death by the enraged animal.

McCoy was superintending work on the remodeling of buildings on the farm when he discovered a herd of cattle in a corn field.

He had succeeded in routing the cattle from the field and was herding them through a gate when a large bull charged him. Mr. McCoy remained close to the fence and succeeded in avoiding the charges of the bull until he was unable to attract the attention of Hugh Sweeney who was at work in an adjoining field.

Mr. Sweeney rushed to his aid and succeeded in driving the animal away with a pitch fork.

FREAK OF NATURE
P. Brondyke, tree surgeon, who lives at 518 West First street, brought to this office last evening a freak of nature, consisting of several small branches of a Siberian crabapple.

The branches bore several clusters of ripe yellow fruit, and several bunches of small hard green apples, just following the budding, such as trees naturally have in late June or in July.

Mr. Brondyke also reports that there were blossoms on the tree, thus making blossom, immature fruit and full fruitage on one tree at one time.

"He" declares this a freak of nature and states that the tree will never bear again, or rather never would have borne again, as he cut the tree down as it had finished its life and usefulness. Mr. Brondyke came across this queer specimen as he was clearing the grounds at the J. F. Enright property, 711 East Fellows street.

MUSIC OF THE SEA

The night is calm and cloudless, and still as still can be. And the stars come forth to listen to the music of the sea. They gather, and gather, and gather, until they crowd the sky. And listen in breathless silence, to the solemn litany. It begins in rocky caverns, as a voice that chants alone to the pedals of the organ. In monotonous undertone; And anon from shelving beaches, and shallow sand beyond. In snow-white robes uprising. The ghostly choirs respond. —Longfellow, in "The Golden Legend."

Daughters Union Veterans Convention

(Contributed)
The annual convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, District No. 3, was held last Thursday in the G. A. R. hall. There was a large attendance of guests and delegates from over the state of Illinois. The afternoon session was opened by several selections from the Daughters Drum Corps of Dixon which was much appreciated.

Delegates gave excellent reports from the following cities: Rockford, Dixon, Aurora, Elgin, Oregon and Sandwich.

Department officers present were: President, Mrs. Drake, Chicago, Junior Vice President—Mrs. Byers Rockford; Secretary—Mrs. Reiline, Aurora; Department Instructor—Mrs. McConnell, Chicago.

Mayor Palmer was introduced and gave a most eloquent and pleasing address of welcome to all visiting members of the order. He gave visitors' card to all car drivers from away.

Newly elected district officers are as follows: President—Mrs. Riley of Elgin. Senior Vice President—Mrs. Carmichael, Rockford.

Junior Vice President—Mrs. Nellie Eastman, Dixon. Secretary—Mrs. Myrtle Huggins, Dixon.

Treasurer—Mrs. Freeman, Aurora. Chaplain—Mrs. Merly, Rockford. In the evening the local Tent No. 21, held their regular meeting, jointly with the convention.

The next convention will be held at Sandwich.

E. R. B. Class In Happy Meeting

The E. R. B. class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday School held its October meeting last evening at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Tobias Switzer, 718 Hennepin avenue. A splendid attendance of members and friends was present.

The business session was followed by a short program: Piano Solo—Miss Jessie Switzer. Vocal Duet—Misses Edna and Laura Switzer.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. Emma Lambert. Accompanied by Mrs. George. The home was beautifully decorated with garden flowers.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Morris Emmerson Married Last Night
Mt. Vernon, Ill., Oct. 4.—(UP)—A youthful courtship, with an interlude of 52 years, found its way to the marriage altar here last night when Morris Emmerson, brother of Governor L. L. Emmerson, and Mrs. Olive Smith, Los Angeles, Cal., were married.

After a separation of 52 years, which they joyfully referred to as having its inception in a "youthful love spat, its theme long forgotten," their acquaintance was renewed at a meeting a year ago.

Emmerson formerly was publisher of the Lincoln (Ill.) News-Herald and the Fort Collins (Colo.) Courier. The couple will reside in Los Angeles.

Major Tourtellott's Birthday Observed

Sunday a group of friends, mostly members of the veterans of the Spanish American War and their wives, called on Major Tourtellott at his farm near Sublette and happily surprised him in honor of his birthday. A delicious picnic dinner was served and a most enjoyable day was spent by all present. Decorations of garden flowers were appropriate. Before departing the guests presented the Major with a handsome gift in token of the day which he values highly and for which he expressed his appreciation and thanks. On departing all wished him many happy returns of the day.

Annual Dinner at Cherry Hill Farm

The enjoyable annual chicken dinner at Cherry Hill Farm was held yesterday, with Mrs. Harry Osborne as hostess. A delightful day was spent by all present, and at noon the appetizing chicken dinner was served from the beautifully appointed table, with decorations of brilliantly colored autumn flowers. The guests included Mrs. Ed Holdeman, Mrs. Will Cahill, Mrs. Ed Cahill, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. W. R. Parker and Mrs. T. E. Kinney. A happy afternoon was spent in reminiscences and music.

W. M. S. TO MEET TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The W. M. S. of Grace Evangelical church will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at the church. All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

Mrs. George Webster and Miss Rilla Webster will be the hostesses.

COUNCIL BLUFFS WOMAN HEADS LEGION AUXILIARY

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Donald MacCrae of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was elected National President of the American Legion Auxiliary here yesterday.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL.

It is hard to see why this nation devotes so much attention to college football when there are so many high school games to watch.

The college game, to be sure, is more spectacular. It has the huge crowds, the "color"—what ever would we do without that word?—the faultlessly-drilled teams, the unending ballyhoo. But the high school game has an appeal all its own. It reaches inside of you and takes hold of your heart and tugs at it, somehow, in a way that college football never does.

Just why it should be so different is hard to explain. Perhaps it is because the high school youngsters, both in the stands and on the field, represent youth at its very best—unspoiled and unsophisticated. They have not yet reached the point where they are afraid that unfettered enthusiasm may make them a bit ridiculous.

The game itself, of course, is not as entertaining, technically, as a college game. The players make more mistakes. The 15-year-old quarterbacks do not always exercise good judgment. The tackling is apt to be a bit ragged. The interference on end runs and off-tackle smashes frequently goes astray.

But, after all, who cares? There is a do-or-die spirit that makes up for all errors. Players and spectators alike are on fire with energy. The atmosphere is electric.

The high school kids have something that we older ones have pretty well lost—something that they themselves will lose in a few years. They have enthusiasm. They are able to make of the crossing of a white-washed line an event as important as the World War. They can scream themselves into exhaustion simply because a lad named Kozinski is able to run ten yards without being knocked down.

Now this youthful enthusiasm is going to be spoiled in a few years. It can't last. But while it lasts its possibilities are infinite. These youngsters, if they only knew it, have the world in their hands. They could make it over. They are so much better than we older ones; so much more alive, so much wiser.

Don't go to a high school football game with condescension in your heart. You aren't worth it. No adult is entitled to look down on any youth. Go, instead, ready to learn something—ready to learn how fine and loyal and ecstatic our American youngsters are. They may shame you, but they'll hearten you, too.

SETTING THE CRUISER QUESTION.

Reports from London and Washington indicate that the British and American governments have very nearly reached complete agreement on the vexing cruiser question. Apparently authoritative dispatches say that a question of three cruisers is all that remains unsettled.

This, one may hope, is practically equivalent to saying that the long dispute is about to be ended for good. Where each nation is planning on a total cruiser strength of more than 300,000 tons, surely an item of only three ships will not be allowed to stand in the way of agreement.

Inducing France, Italy and Japan to accept the Anglo-American agreement will probably be the toughest part of the job. And, at this distance, one may hazard the guess that it will not be the Japanese who will prove the hardest to persuade. During the last few years they have shown every indication of a genuine desire to help preserve the peace of the world.

A hunting party has gone in search of the grylloblatta, an insect that lives at the foot of glaciers. That's about the only thing not included in the tariff list.

A Boston merchant bit a holdup man who tried to rob his store. The storekeeper, it seems, was armed to the teeth.

Sometimes glasses will improve a man's golf—that is, the kind of glasses you wear.

A man we know gets up and writes verses when he can't sleep. Insomnia must be an awful thing.

Jonah was a good man, they say, but he set a bad example for stowaways.

An editor says prohibition has made America what it is today. But why blame it all on prohibition?

Quite a few students nowadays are quite good on figures, if you include co-eds.

Many people are keeping the new bills as souvenirs, say treasury officials. A lot of folks seem to be keeping the old ones as souvenirs, too.

The lilybird and Scouty too, of course, were soaking wet all through. Their tumble in the stream, though, hadn't hurt them one wee bit. There was a scramble for a while. Then Scouty, with a real broad smile, began to swim and loudly cried, "This makes me feel real fit."

"Me, too," exclaimed the lilybird. "I guess that you have often heard that birds can't swim, but I can. See? I'm clever, don't you think? I'm going to try to make for shore and get there ere my legs are sore." And then the bird dipped way down deep and took a good long drink.

"I soon heard little Scouty say, 'Why don't you rise and fly away? I guess you have been punished. I'll forget I'm mad at you if you're as fair as you can be and do a favor just for me. Before you fly up in the air, please give me Clowny's shoe.'"

BATTLE OF GERMANTOWN

Today is the 152d anniversary of the famous Battle of Germantown which took place Oct. 4, 1777, between the Americans under Washington and the British and Hessians under Howe.

Washington opened the engagement early in the morning of the 4th and at first his army forced back the British and victory seemed almost certain.

But the Americans became confused in the fog and opened fire on each other, while a body of English, who had taken refuge in a large stone house, in the rear, detained a part of the American forces.

The accident, coupled with the continual firing in the rear, threw the American troops into confusion, but Washington succeeded in restoring order and led them from the field.

The British lost 575 men and the Americans 673.

Germantown, a former suburb of Philadelphia, since 1854 has been included within the municipal limits and now forms the 22nd ward of the city.

"MALLOY'S"

The following "Way Back When" will awaken fond memories of a number of the Dixon old timers who remember Gene Malloy's refreshment parlor that one time was a high spot on Adams Street in Chicago. Gene was an old time Dixonite. The poet, bringing back pleasant memories of other days, writes:

I often sit and ponder on The days of "Way Back When."
And I wish that I could travel
Those familiar roads again.
But this thought wakes me rather
From the dream of bygone days,
For a host of those we used to know
Have reached the "parting of the ways."

Where are those boys we all once met
On Saturdays at Malloy's?
They've gone away forever,
I hope to greater joys.
So if we could foregather,
I have to make it plain,
That some we knew and liked to meet
We could not meet again.

But why go on in memory
About those missing boys,
Remorseless time has taken them—
It even got Malloy's.

OBITUARY

PETER M. LAWSON

(Contributed)

Peter Martin Lawson, the fourth of seven children of Andrew and Christina Lawson, was born in Bergen, Norway, Jan. 16, 1881. His family moved to the United States when he was one year of age, and for most of his life he lived in Chicago, and was educated in the schools of that city. He was employed as a shipping clerk in a stove and hardware company for a long time, and in recent years served as watchman on the Kinloch campus of Northwestern University.

He was married to Josephine McCabe of Chicago, Oct. 28, 1891, and to them three children were born: Monewell, who died at the age of ten; Mrs. Mae Borey of Dixon Ill.; and Walter of Chicago. He died at Dixon Hospital, Monday, Sept. 29, 1929, at the age of 48 yrs., 8 mos., 13 days. Besides the two children, he is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Cornelia Jenson of Denmark, four grand-children, and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon, two-thirty o'clock, Oct. 2, from the Preston Mortuary in Dixon, in charge of J. H. Cleaver, minister for the Dixon Christian Church with burial in Oakwood Cemetery, Dixon.

Week's Drilling

Last Saturday's tilt with the Amboy township high school team developed numerous rough spots on the Dixon high school football squad which have been undergoing the ironing out process by Coach Lindell and his assistant, Coach Sharp this week. Saturday afternoon, the Dixon fans will be treated to a double header game at the north side athletic field with Rock Falls furnishing the opposition. The second team will be seen in action in the first game of the double bill with the heaviest completing the program.

It is expected that there may be some changes made in the start of the heaviest tomorrow afternoon with a possibility of strengthening weak spots in the team which were apparent last week. Several of the first team men sustained some injuries which, however, were of a minor nature and will not keep any of the regulars out of the Rock Falls contest.

The Dixon squads are entering on tomorrow's program with a view of taking both games from the visitors. Dixon and Rock Falls have both held championships in the old Rock River conference and while the latter is not a member of the newly organized conference, they have a strong football squad that is capable of furnishing plenty of excitement for the larger schools. The Rock Falls squad will be accompanied to Dixon tomorrow by a large delegation of the student body and fans from that city. The Dixon boys' band will be on hand to furnish music during the double header.

Those who witnessed last Saturday's game with Amboy, found much to interest them in the spirit shown by the Dixon high school students.

At no time in many seasons has the interest and support of the student body been as clearly displayed as the opening game last week. Such spirit is not only encouraging to the team members but gives the visiting team and followers the impression that the school is supporting the team.

THE SCOREBOARD

BY WILLIAM J. CHAPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Major league baseball outpointed the weather man yesterday, but lost all decisions to the fans who refused to give the turnstiles a workout. Only the Giant-Phillie game was postponed in a schedule of four, and that postponement was ordered more to make a double-bill with which to close the Baker Bowl season on Saturday than from any necessity imposed by the weather.

The Cubs and the Reds again had the National League stage to themselves. The Browns seized the opportunity to win another game and so to forge ahead of the Hendricks forces in the series by two decisions to one. The score was 8 to 1.

Pete Donohue was punished severely, yielding 12 hits and all of the eight runs in five and a fraction innings before Marvin Gudat rushed to the rescue. Joe McCarthy divided his box work among three men. Hal Carlson, Art Nehf and Pat Malone. Rogers Hornsby got only one safe blow in five attempts, and faded definitely from the race for the National League batting championship, which seems to belong to Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia. The Rajah's chances of finishing second now are none too good.

The Browns nosed out the Indians by 3 to 2 in ten innings through two late rallies against Willis Hudlin, and retained a chance to tie the Peck's club for third place. The Browns must take three more in succession to turn the trick. Alvin Crowder pitched smart ball.

In the other American League game, Ted Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 3 to 1 victory over Detroit at Chicago. It was Lyons' fourteenth victory of the season for the seventh-place pale hose.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
California's football array is trying something new as well as a trifle hazardous in its early season jaunt across the country to play Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, October 12. "I think that is going to be a joy-ride take a nap at our schedule," suggested Nibs Price, the stocky little Golden Bear coach. "It is one of the hardest we have ever faced, with every conference game out here tough enough without going 3,000 miles after more trouble. We play Washington State one Saturday, leave that night for the East to meet Penn the following week-end and hurry back to buck into the Olympic Club outfit here and then tackle Southern Cal the following Saturday. You can't laugh that off, especially when you figure we have Washington and Stanford as successive opponents to wind up the season."

For five years in a row after the war, California ruled the Pacific Coast football roost. For nearly six seasons, the Golden Bears were undefeated, hanging up a record that still stands as the greatest any single institution has ever posted. The guiding genius in those days was Andy Smith, a former Pennsylvania fullback, and first of the Eastern coaches to develop the main potentialities of the Far Western gridiron talent. Slip Madigan, Howard Jones, Pop Warner and others have come along to link the old with the new but Smith set the pace.

Andy's successor, Clarence Price of Minnesota, more familiarly known as "Nibs," is a product of the Smith school, a keen student of the game, good organizer and coach. Nibs is directing the big come-back and it won't be a sensation anywhere along the coast, as a matter of fact, if he lands his Bears up on top again in spite of strong opposition. He was only a few "breaks" short of an unbeaten year and the championship last season, where the teaming backward run of Roy Riegels contributed to Cal's only defeat by Georgia Tech.

California's first football trip anywhere east of the Rockies carries something of sentimental interest for it was at old Franklin Field that Andy Smith first became famous as a player and All-American. It was there, a few years ago, during the Cornell-Penn game that the former California coach contracted illness that resulted in his death at Philadelphia. The Bears, too, are returning the compliment of Penn's former trips to the far west.

It was at Franklin Field that California, in 1921, first won the intercollegiate track and field championships, starting the big winning streak of the Pacific coast colleges. Altogether, therefore, Lom, Riegels and the rest of the California gridiron cast should have plenty of inspiration.

Some Iowa Players
Back In Good Graces

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 4—(AP)—Some of the twelve University of Iowa football players declared ineligible just before the Carroll game last Saturday have been "temporarily" reinstated. C. C. Williams, chairman of the university's eligibility committee, admitted tonight after a meeting of the committee. He refused to say who the men were or how many had been declared eligible. The committee's action will be announced probably next week. Williams said, explaining that "we word before that time might prove embarrassing."

Grapp Will Start
Cubs' Game Sunday

Chicago, Oct. 4—(AP)—The hardest working pitcher on the Cub staff, Henry Grapp, who has been serving in batting practice for the last three seasons, finally is to start a game for the new National League champions.

Grapp not only never has started a game, but has participated in nothing more important than exhibition games during his three years on Mr. Wrigley's payroll. Manager Joe McCarthy left it up to baseball writers traveling with the team, to name the starting pitcher for the season final at Chicago Sunday with the Pittsburgh Pirates Grapp was named without a dissenting vote.

Run-Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Charles L. Stults, of 1127 St. Mary's Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I was anemic—nothing but skin and bones. After three bottles of Tanlac I could do my housework. Tanlac helped my constipation very much. My rosy cheeks came back and I gained 40 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Members, Guests

Members of Dixon lodge of Elks and their invited guests witnessed an excellent program of boxing at the club house last evening, the event being the annual smoker, which officially opens the fall and winter entertainment program. Bob Waddick of Chicago received the popular decision over Pete Samartus of Rockford at 128 pounds in the opening bout. Waddick was master from the start and the Rockfordite, while apparently the heavier and stronger of the two could not land effectively.

Joe Myers of Streator was given the judge's decision in the second bout in which he met plenty of opposition at the hands of Iver Johnson of Rockford at 138 pounds. Myers had the best of the first round, but Johnson came out of his corner in the second and forced the boxer rapidly through the round. Myers was the more experienced boxer of the two and landed some telling blows in the third round.

Harry Miller of the Levine athletic quarters in Chicago, at 147 pounds completely outclassed Frank Spack of Rockford in the third round when Referee Harry Stephan halted the bout. Spack was willing to box the Chicagoan in the opening round, but soon learned that he was meeting a tough boxer who delivered telling blows. Miller sent his opponent staggering to his corner at the close of the second and when the third came up, the Rockford boxer was completely outclassed and could not resist the blows which were being reined in by Miller.

CHICAGO IS AGOG
WITH ENTHUSIASM
OVER CHAMP CUBSPictures of McCarthy's
Team Seen Everywhere
In The Big City

BY FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor
Chicago, Oct. 4—(UP)—The inevitable harbinger of an approaching world series is a photograph of the local pennant winning ball club in a shop window. Chicago's streets are lined with them.

A city which has played host in successive years to an Army-Navy football game, a fight for the world's heavyweight championship, and a play-off for the national open golf title might be estimated as sufficiently sports conscious to take a world series in its stride. But not Chicago.

The city is rapidly whipping itself, with small town fervor, into a frenzy over the approaching sign to those who support, or are supported by, the national pastime. Baseball is a long way from being on the decline.

Of course, the fact that a Chicago team is to be one of the contenders in the forthcoming series is what is responsible for the excitement. This is no academic interest which a city of several million is displaying towards the game. The series which opens here on Tuesday will be no hippodrome with a Babe Ruth as its prodigious central figure. It is to be a battle between cities—Chicago against Philadelphia, just as world series used to be in the good old days when the Babe was a rookie southpaw pitcher.

Park Will Be Crowded
There will be more than 50,000 fans, packed layer on layer as tightly as chewing gum, within the limits of Wrigley Field when Charley Root sends the first ball whistling down the groove to where Max Bishop will be nervously pawing beside the plate next Tuesday afternoon. But they will be just the lucky ones.

If baseball parks possessed the elasticity of fight arenas or football stadia, there would be closer to 150,000 spectators. With genuine tears in their eyes, officials of the Chicago go National League club are mailing back money representing 100,000 unfilled orders.

There will be no ticket scandal, however. So intense is the demand for tickets that speculators are blessed, not cursed. A seat in the Cub's ball park next Tuesday, in the opinion of a Chicagoan, is worth whatever was paid for it.

Strangely enough, there has been, however, a sharp decline in the trained seal market. Trained seals, as you may or may not know, are the participants, the experts, the heroes of yesterday and the stowaways, who sell to syndicates the privilege of peddling stories about the series supposedly written by the character, famous or eccentric, whose name is signed to them. The writing is done by "ghost writers," who do not appear except to collect their small percentage of the profits of this quaint and assuredly harmless deceit.

All members of both contending clubs were included in the amazing list of trained seals engaged for the forthcoming series. But something went wrong with the market, for four of the most prominent Chicago players suddenly were given their unconditional release by the best known among the seal trainers.

But the American public need not worry. Plenty of others and probably these four will be seen, if not heard, in print by the time the series starts.

Twenty-Six Cubs To Split Series Money

Chicago, Oct. 4—(AP)—Twenty-six members of the Cubs will receive full shares in the world series spoils, and six other players and attaches of the club will be cut in.

The players and manager McCarthy held a conference and decided that Zach Taylor, Gabby Hartnett, Miguel Gonzales, John Schulte, Percy Malone, Charlie Root, Guy Bush, Mike Cvetengros, Hal Carlson, Art Nehf, Fred Blake, Henry Grapp, Charlie Grimm, Rogers Hornsby, Woody English, Norman McMillan, Clarence Blair, Clyde Beck, Riggs Stephenson, Hack Wilson, Hazen Cuyler, Cliff Heathcote, John Moore, Joe McCarthy, Grover Land and Jimmy Burke, would receive full shares.

One share will be divided between Trainer Andy Lotshaw and Bob Lewis, traveling secretary of the club. Berlyn Horne, left handed pitcher, who was sent to Los Angeles in order to obtain Charlie Tolson when Charlie Grimm was injured, was voted a bonus of $2,000, while Tolson will receive $1,000. Ken Penner, relief pitcher who came to the Cubs from Indianapolis in August, also will get $1,000 and Bob Osborne, pitcher, recalled from Reading several weeks ago, was voted $500.

DIVORCES OLD PETE
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 3—(UP)—A divorce was granted here today to Mrs. Aimee Marie Alexander, wife of Grover Cleveland Alexander, St. Louis baseball pitcher. She won the decree on grounds of extreme cruelty, charging Alexander drank excessively and was quarrelsome. District Judge Lincoln Froel granted the divorce on default of Alexander, who did not appear to oppose it.

MACK'S STRATEGY
MAY BE OFF-SET
BY CUB BASEHITSHowever, Old Master of Athletics, Has Edge
in Master-MindingBy ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 4—(AP)—If the tactics of a baseball sage and master craftsman, guiding the play of his youthful talent by the wags of a score card; if strategy, in other words, develops as a vital factor in the forthcoming world's series, the Athletics seem likely to have the advantage of the Cubs.

It may contribute nothing to the advancement of science for "brute" force to triumph yet it is a well known baseball fact that a few solid base hits can overthrow the most cunning strategy. For that reason the clouting Cub Circus probably is not worried by the threat of being outsmarted by Connie Mack and a strategic board of sages that numbers Kid Gleason, Eddie Collins and Ira Thomas. The Yankees have given ample proof that the home run represents one of the cleverest methods of offsetting enemy maneuvering.

It is all much simpler for McCarthy. The As may defy the Cub Murderer's Row of right-handed batsmen with their star left-hander, Grove, at the outset or they may rely on the big right-hand speeder, Earnshaw, depending on success or failure of the opening engagement. Mack has a southpaw mate for Grove in Rube Walberg or right handed spitballs, tossed by old Jack Quinn, to back up Earnshaw's efforts.

It is all much simpler for McCarthy, who has a logical starter in Pat Malone, the iron man member of an almost exclusively right-handed curving corps. Malone, in fact, can pitch every other game until the series is decided, with Guy Bush and Charley Root to fill in the gaps. This would reduce the Cub pitching strategy to a minimum.

Mack juggles his reserves and batting order as rapidly as he shifts the players on the field. He has already considered some changes and if the As happen to get off badly it would not be surprising to see the old master make wholesale re-arrangements on short notice. McCarthy will have few problems of this kind, unless such injured regulars as Taylor, English or Grimm meet with further mishaps. General Joe, after all, will depend largely on the strategic basehit.

For that matter, the Cubs can do plenty of heavy thinking, or contribute any amount of inside stuff on their own account with Gen. Joe McCarthy in command. Col. Jimmy Burke nearby for advice and Maj. Rogers Hornsby on the field to toss his experience in with that of Field Capt. Charley Grimm. Yet there is no doubt the master-minding honors, on the whole, belong to the As. McCarthy is a school kid, playing on the sandlots of Philadelphia, when Connie Mack managed his first championship club in 1902.

Even McGraw yields in technique to Mack, who controls the moves of every player with his famous score card, although he has denied the legend that he directs every pitch. No manager so assiduously studies or so carefully remembers the strength and weakness of opposing players as Mack. From the reports of Chief Scout Ira Thomas, who has been trailing the Cubs, the lean leader probably has indexed all offensive and defensive habits of the National champions.

Strategy Complicated

The pitching strategy is much more complicated for Mack than it is for McCarthy. The As may defy the Cub Murderer's Row of right-handed batsmen with their star left-hander, Grove, at the outset or they may rely on the big right-hand speeder, Earnshaw, depending on success or failure of the opening engagement. Mack has a southpaw mate for Grove in Rube Walberg or right handed spitballs, tossed by old Jack Quinn, to back up Earnshaw's efforts.

It is all much simpler for McCarthy, who has a logical starter in Pat Malone, the iron man member of an almost exclusively right-handed curving corps. Malone, in fact, can pitch every other game until the series is decided, with Guy Bush and Charley Root to fill in the gaps. This would reduce the Cub pitching strategy to a minimum.

Mack juggles his reserves and batting order as rapidly as he shifts the players on the field. He has already considered some changes and if the As happen to get off badly it would not be surprising to see the old master make wholesale re-arrangements on short notice. McCarthy will have few problems of this kind, unless such injured regulars as Taylor, English or Grimm meet with further mishaps. General Joe, after all, will depend largely on the strategic basehit.

JUST ANOTHER SERIES

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—(AP)—To Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, the world's series is "just a set of games between two good ball clubs."

The 67-year-old pilot said today he had not "even given the coming series with the Chicago Cubs much thought yet."

"I'm not in a position to say anything about the series," Mack said. "I don't know the Cubs."

"To me it's just a set of games between two good ball clubs. In fact, I haven't given it much thought yet; I've been so busy with other things. But I'm going to begin thinking about it soon, now."

The Athletics had their first workout yesterday since Sunday in Boston, rain having kept them idle since their return home. The diamond was still too soft for infield work, but every member of the team jogged around the fringe of Shibe Park and unlimbered their throwing arms, while the pitchers took turns at burning them in from the mound.

Grove, Walberg, Earnshaw, Quinn, Ehmeke, Shores and Rommel declared after the practice that they were fit and ready to show their speed and curves to Chicago bat swingers. Manager Mack said he probably would use three pitchers in each of the games in New York Saturday and Sunday in order to give them a real workout for the series.

The team will leave for Chicago Sunday night.

Dixon Ads To Open
Season at Rochelle

The Dixon Ads are putting on the finishing touches of the tri-weekly practice sessions at the Independent field for the first game of their schedule with Rochelle Sunday afternoon at Rochelle. Coaches have been drilling the candidates hard every evening and the team is in excellent condition for the opening game. Rochelle has assembled a strong aggregation of former football stars and are out to win Sunday's opener while the Ads are equally confident that they will bring home the victory.

The Ads will open the season of home games at the Independent field one week from Sunday when they will meet a team composed of former Sterling high school and college gridiron stars who have organized a team which will be seen in action in this vicinity this fall.

Legion Commander

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3.—(UP)—A former college professor who enlisted as a private in 1917 and rose to rank of Major, today was chosen National Commander of the American Legion.

A. L. Bodenhamer of El Dorado, Ark., is the new Legion chief. He was born at Goldthwaite, Tex., and was graduated from Baylor University at Waco.

Bodenhamer was head of the Arkansas Legion in 1922; and was a member of the National executive committee, serving as chairman of the legislative committee in 1924-25.

After leaving Baylor University, Bodenhamer became Professor of English and later Dean at San Marcos College, also acting as athletic director. Following his discharge from the Army in 1919, he entered the real estate and brokerage business in El Dorado.

DRIVER EXONORATED

Kewanee, Ill., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Carl Cook, 68, was struck and killed last night by an automobile driven by Lee Nuding, Kewanee, on the highway near Toulon. A coroner's jury exonerated Nuding. Stark county authorities are seeking relatives of Cook.

they furnish to him, his work will extend into the formulation of prospective legislation.

He is to determine how the Treasury's prohibition bureau, devoted to the detection and apprehension of dry law violators, can best be lifted from that department and placed in the Department of Justice beside the unit there which prosecutes the offender in the court. He is to work out the form which the new organization in the Justice Department will take. In addition, he is to delve into federal court procedure and see what Congress can do to expedite judicial action.

The result is to be a working draft of the legislation which Mr. Hoover will recommend to Congress. The Chief Executive expects McNab to complete this study in time to submit the recommendations at the opening of the regular session of Congress in December.

SHOULD CALL SOVIETS

Washington, Oct. 3.—(UP)—The Senate lobby investigating committee should accept the recommendation of the American Legion and call the ten peace societies named in a resolution adopted at the Legion convention, Senator Caraway, Democrat Arkansas, author of the Senate inquiry resolution, declared.

McNab Given Board Powers by Hoover

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover has fortified his one-man commission, John McNab of San Francisco, with broad and extensive authority for his coming study of legislative ways and means of achieving a centralized responsibility in federal enforcement of prohibition laws.

McNab is to have a free hand. He will pursue his inquiries as he thinks best, calling upon the Treasury and Justice Department and the Law Enforcement Commission for such assistance as he feels necessary. Cooperating with these agencies and coordinating the information that Tickets will soon be on sale with the members of the Brotherhood.

STOMACH TROUBLE QUICKLY ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Man Relates Fine Experience
He Had With New and Different Medicine.

MR. RICHARD O. STEPHENS

"For three years I suffered from stomach trouble," said Mr. Richard O. Stephens, 803 Coxspur Street, Ziegler, Illinois. "After each meal I suffered with gas, bloating, heartburns and pains in my side. Constipation added greatly to my misery and the strongest laxatives gave but temporary relief. It was a very discouraging situation and I had about given up hope of finding relief."

"I heard a lot about Konjola and decided to see what it could do. Day by day I improved. My appetite increased and I eat whatever I want without suffering afterward. Gas and bloating are no more and I am rapidly gaining in weight and strength. Constipation has also been eliminated."

ed. Konjola is certainly a wonderful medicine and I praise it highly." Konjola is sold in Dixon, Ill., at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 W. 1st St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

POLICEMAN AND SQUAD PARADED FOR WITNESSES

Involved in Investigation of Death of Negro Politicians

Chicago, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Lieut. Phil Carroll, who has been on the Chicago police force nearly a quarter of a century, and member of his detective squad were paraded last night before 100 witnesses of the Octavius Granady slaying of April 10, 1928.

The State's Attorney's office, which conducted the showup, would not divulge whether Lieut. Carroll or his men had been identified. At midnight the officers were permitted to return to their police duties.

The Granady investigation was suddenly revived with the arrest of Louis Clemente, a former convict, and Thomas Sommerio. They were charged yesterday with the murder of Granady, a Negro lawyer who was a candidate for ward committeeman against City Collector Morris Eller. Clemente, the State's Attorney charges, was the man who shot Granady. Sommerio was identified as the driver of the automobile in which the slayers fled.

Lieut. Carroll and his squad were at the scene of the slaying when other police officers arrived. Lieut. Carroll was questioning witnesses of the crime. During the months of investigation there has been frequent mention that a police squad car was in some way connected with the affair.

The witnesses last night stood behind a curtain and looked over the police officers. The procedure was necessary, it was explained, because of numerous threats made against several persons who saw the Granady killing.

Lieut. Carroll said he would demand a full investigation.

PARROT IS "HAUNT"
Beauty Firth, Scotland.—"Oh, dear me, take care!" was a mournful wail that came from a thicket near where a boy's camp had located. Thinking the thicket was haunted, all the boys beat a hasty retreat but one. This lad investigated and found a rabbit's hole in the middle of the bush. In the hole was a trapped parrot. He rescued the bird and it is now mascot of the camp.

NEW SPIRIT OF DIPLOMACY SEEN IN MAC'S VISIT

Arrival of Premier of Gr. Britain Comes At An Historic Moment

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 4. —(UP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald arrived in the United States today on a mission in behalf of closer friendship between the two chief naval powers of the world.

This is the first visit to the United States of a British Prime Minister. It comes at a historic moment in the lives of these great naval powers. It honors, with friendly grace the willingness of Great Britain to share the United States on a basis of equality the naval supremacy which she has held for centuries against potential rivals who challenged it only to be utterly crushed as was Germany a decade ago.

New York gave the visiting spokesman of a British government a welcome such as few foreign statesmen have received. MacDonald was met by a representative of President Hoover. His schedule called for his immediate departure by train for Washington, five hours away.

This visit signifies the practical agreement between the United States and Great Britain for complete naval equality. In a statement to the House of Commons July 25, MacDonald announced the two governments had agreed on parity. Battle-ship parity had been agreed to at the Washington arms conference in 1921 but this was the first unqualified statement pledging Britain to complete parity.

Few Details Unsolved
Weeks of negotiation resulted in announcement a few days ago that the United States and Great Britain had practically completed the application of the principle of equality to the cruiser strength of the two powers which has been greatly out of balance in Britain's favor. Only a few minor details are yet to be adjusted—principally whether the United States shall have 21 8-inch gun cruisers or 18 such, plus several smaller cruisers which Britain holds as adequate. This point may be settled while MacDonald is here or it may go over until the projected five-power conference which is expected to be held in January.

This agreement is tentative depending upon the willingness of Japan, France and Italy to hold their programs down to a proportionate scale. The agreement also must be ratified by Congress and by parliament before it becomes effective.

But MacDonald while here will be concerned more with building up general good-will and wiping out the last vestiges of the ill-feeling which began at the Geneva arms conference when Britain held to a program which the United States thought was excessive. This ill-feeling reached a climax with the last armistice day address of then President Coolidge which the British resented as an attempt to lecture them about their naval attitude.

President Hoover took office with this ill-feeling still hanging over and with a firm resolve to break the deadlock and drive off the menace of serious trouble. He was aided by the election in May of Ramsay MacDonald, a socialist, a pacifist, who was ostracized in Britain during the war, even expelled from golf clubs, subjected to the keenest personal humiliation, but in his steadfast Scotch way never swerving from his convictions. That a man of such temperament should replace the die-hard government of Baldwin which had refused to cooperate at Geneva and which permitted the negotiations to run into a breakup, was one of those events of fate which sometimes change the entire course of history.

A New Atmosphere

Hoover would have been unable to make much headway against the old Baldwin government. The moment MacDonald took office a new atmosphere pervaded the scene. American Ambassador Dawes went to MacDonald's country and over pipes they began, as friends to work out the rough outlines of an agreement.

MacDonald brushed aside the British admiralty which had dominated the Baldwin government and publicly accepted the principle of parity with the United States. This was a long step forward for the government which since the days of Queen Elizabeth has commanded the seas and has crushed whoever sought to challenge its supremacy, and which only a hundred years ago was seizing and searching American ships and carrying off sailors suspected of having been British citizens. The importance of this step and MacDonald's courage in acknowledging that a new power had arisen which should have naval equality with Britain, we in America, who are not under the domination of such a powerful institution as the British admiralty, can hardly comprehend.

There yet remains the question of control of the seas—whether in wartime Britain shall command the trade routes of the world and dictate to all merchant shipping what it shall do as it has in every war for War. Some in America, notably Senator Borah, feel that the United States and Britain should first thresh out this question of neutral right at sea. This is not because Borah fears war with Britain. He wishes to avoid complications as occurred early in the world war when shipping of the United States, then a neutral, was subjected to British blockade restrictions causing very severe feeling at one time.

Disagreement With Borah

Others disagree with Senator Borah as to procedure and believe that having first obtained naval equality with Britain, no effort would be made to subject American shipping to British control.

All of these questions, troublesome as they are, are not to be permitted to mar the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald which is based upon the feeling that if the two powers can sit down as friends, difficulties which would be serious between potential enemies, will dissolve in frank and friendly interchange. That also is Mr. Hoover's conviction. They will sit quietly by the fire together, the President of the United States, a peace loving Quaker, for many years an engineer and business man in Great Britain, a man who seeks an end and is not patient of traditions, and the Prime Minister of Britain, a man who all his life has thought the existing order wrong and who now has within his hands the power to change that existing order at a vital point. They do not meet as emperors to parcel out the world. They meet as elected representatives of two peoples who wish to rid themselves of the cost of excessive armament, who wish their countries adequately defended but who do not wish war and who are content if each power is equal to the other.

These two men represent a new age, an age which believes war is wasteful and tragic way to settle differences, and who believe this world is large enough to permit two fair-minded nations to live side by side in peace.

In this spirit and through these spokesmen, Britain and the United States today, reached "hands across the sea."

Three Die in Blast

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 3. —(UP)—Three members of the crew of the United States lighthouse tender Marigold were killed and four others were injured yesterday when a Lake Superior buoy on which they were working exploded near here.

The explosion occurred when the three men sought to install an acetylene gas cartridge in the steel buoy preparatory to late fall shipping.

It is stated that in the Belgian Congo elephants are more satisfactory than motor tractors.

Cut Body to Bits

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3. —(UP)—The story of how a sorrow-stricken mother cut up the body of her dead infant daughter and gave the pieces to her brother to throw into the Missouri river was unfolded before police here.

Investigation of the story continued today.

Police said Emma La Fleur, 28, of St. Louis, confessed when she was called to answer charges of abandoning a human body. She told police the baby was dead when born.

Her brother admitted he threw "a package" into the river.

SUSPECT MURDER

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 3. —(UP)—County authorities investigated today possibility of murder in the death of Charles H. Doss, 46-year-old railroad conductor of Dupont, Ill., whose body was found underneath a railroad trestle here.

Evidence at first indicated Doss was knocked from the trestle by a train. But when it developed that his watch and a considerable amount of money were gone from his pockets, a murder theory was advanced.

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED

St. Louis, Oct. 3. —(AP)—The body of the youth who shot and killed himself in a shooting gallery here yesterday was identified last night as that of Ernest Young of Minnimum, Iron county, Mo. Identification was made by Mrs. Dorothy Brown at whose home he had roomed while working as an hotel bus boy.

CHILDREN HAVE TO CHEW IT—AND THEY LIKE THE CRISP SHREDS

SHREDDED WHEAT

With all the bran of the whole wheat

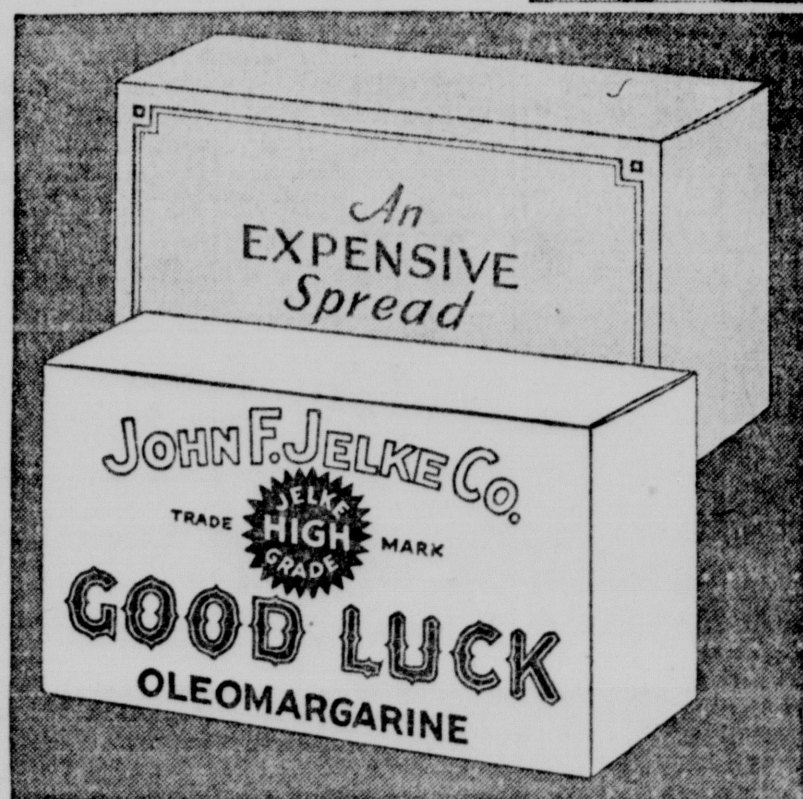

You don't have to coax children to chew Shredded Wheat—the more they chew it, the better they like it—and that means sound teeth and healthy gums. Just the food for growing youngsters. So delicious and so easy to serve.

WHICH IS WHICH?

THE PHELPS TWINS

Never did two girls look more alike than the Phelps Twins. A revelation in beauty and grace is their dancing in Earl Carroll's greatest production, the new Sketch Book, by Eddie Cantor, now running at the 44th Street Theatre in New York.

The Proof: Two plates of sandwiches—some spread with GOOD LUCK, the others with a much more expensive spread of identical flavor. Here is a money-saving hint for housewives.

Has that 60c flavor BUT COSTS MUCH LESS

To distinguish Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine from the older spread-for-bread is equally difficult—for it has the very same expensive flavor—always fresh, exquisite and delicate. One cannot be told from the other.

In many cities one out of every two housekeepers use GOOD LUCK exclusively on their tables and for cooking and baking, because no difference in flavor is ever detected. There is none! Get a package today.

White House Made Ready for Visit of British Premier

This picturesque room in the White House—with its ornate high-backed bed built for Abraham Lincoln—is to be occupied by Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain during the time he is the guest of President Hoover in Washington. The bed, made in Springfield, Ill., at President Lincoln's special directions, is nine feet long, and six feet wide and has been matched by the marble top table shown in the foreground.

Company's coming—and the White House will be all dolled up in a new coat of white paint when Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain arrives for his visit with President Hoover. Here you see the painters' scaffolding erected outside the entrance of the executive mansion as the work of making the White House whiter began.

Boy Admits $512,000 Bond Theft

The bonds and securities which Milton Alter, 17-year-old messenger boy, took from the Guaranty Trust Company in New York were valued at $512,000, but he got only one dollar—and a probable prison term—out of them. The youth is pictured here, right, as he confessed his crime to Police Commissioner Grover Whelan, left, telling of turning over the negotiable papers for "eight bits" to two men who now are sought by police as master minds of several similar thefts in Wall Street.

SCIENCE SAVES HIM
Seattle. Elementary sciences saved the lives of the skipper and the crew of an icebound steamer in an Alaskan lake recently. Knowing that black absorbs the sun's rays and holds the heat caused the captain to swab a long strip of refuse oil and lampblack, 40 feet wide, across the frozen lake. In a short time the ice had softened enough to enable him to plow through it.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE feels hopelessly in love with her guardian, LEONARD BRENT. A chance meeting with a dying beggar, CHARLES NELLIN, causes Brent to change his plans for Helen's future. Soon after he tells the girl that she is the only grandchild of a millionaire, CYRIL K. CUNNINGHAM.

Brent takes her to Cunningham and offers proofs which the lonely old man accepts. Hoping to make up for the injustice done her mother, Cunningham showers the girl with affection and gifts.

Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother ROBERT, who falls in love with her. Brent finds another lover like the one he had taken from Nellin to establish Helen as the heiress. He also becomes jealous of Bob and plots to secure the girl for himself quickly.

Hearing the doctor say that a sudden shock would kill the old man, Brent gets the servants out of the way and rushes into the sick room shouting wildly that Helen has been killed. His plan works and when the attendant returns, Cunningham is dead. Then Brent appears as a friend and former guardian of Helen and takes charge of arrangements.

Brent had amused himself by making love to Eva and now he tries to break off the affair without making Helen suspicious. Meanwhile, Bob is too proud to speak his love until a chance meeting breaks his reserve and they both acknowledge their love. But Helen tells him it is hopeless, as she is promised to another.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVIII

"I can't break my engagement," Helen said stiffly. "I can only ask to be released."

Bob drew back from her, white to the lips. Her attitude was incomprehensible to him except from one angle—she did not truly love him.

Argument, his naturally logical brain told him, would be useless. What could it mean to a girl who either was not very deeply in love or who was caught up in fallacies, to be told that only a fool would keep to a mere engagement when disaster threatened the outcome?

Bob wondered that Helen could think of it. Wondered that she could not see, as he did, that the course she was taking was sordid rather than idealistic.

A moment of anger flared up in his heart against her—the resentment of clean youth for evil compromise. It wiped from his mind the question he wanted to ask her. The name of the man she was going to marry.

"..... going to marry." The words echoed in Bob's mind as a sentence to lifelong unhappiness. No man would let her go. Not! A decent man..... but not while he thought she might love him.

Bob felt himself slipping into a maze of doubt and fear. But he

FALL TO TRIAL NEXT WEEK ON BRIBERY COUNT

Another Court Sequel to Oil Scandals of Harding
Regime

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 4.—(UP)—Once again next week the government will renew its attempt to jail a principal of the famous oil scandals of the Harding administration.

Monday in District of Columbia Supreme Court the clerk will call up an indictment charging Albert Bacon Fall with receiving a bribe.

Fall, Secretary of the Interior from 1921 to 1923, leased the Teapot Dome naval reserve in Wyoming to Harry Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Company, and the rich Elk Hills field in California to E. L. Doheny's companies.

Another battle of brains and emotional appeals, with the defense upholding Doheny's $100,000 "advance" to Fall as a friendly loan, is expected after the somewhat arduous job of selecting a jury is completed.

Fall and Doheny knew each other in the early frontier days of the New Mexican territory.

Indictment 5 Years Old
The indictment, more than five years old, and voted a few months after the thrilling senate oil inquiry closed, charges that the $100,000 transaction in 1921 constituted a bribe, designed to influence Fall to lease the valuable navy oil fields to Doheny under most favorable conditions.

The money was brought to Washington from New York by Doheny's son in the famous "little black bag" which really was a prosaic brown satchel, and the incident was one of the high points of the Senate investigation of 1923-24 which resulted in this and other indictments as well as final judicial cancellation of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills leases.

This is the fourth criminal trial directly resulting from the senate investigation, although a score of court hearings have resulted from collateral prosecutions. Sinclair, who leased Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming from Fall, is now serving a sentence in District of Columbia jail for contempt of court in connection with espionage by Burns detectives of the jurors who were trying Fall and Sinclair for conspiracy to defraud the government.

Frank J. Hogan, who led the defense which obtained a jury acquittal for Fall and Doheny on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government—the first oil trial, in 1926—will represent Fall. He will be assisted by Mark B. Thompson, Fall's personal lawyer and New Mexico ranch neighbor, and others.

Owen J. Roberts, special government oil counsel who has represented the government in the previous cases, will be assisted by United States Attorney Leo A. Rever.

Trial Often Postponed
The trial of Fall has been postponed from time to time, principally because of Fall's ill health. The westerner, nearly 68, collapsed during one trial here two years ago, and has been in bad health until recently.

The result of this trial may decide whether there will be any further oil prosecutions. Doheny is still under a companion bribery indictment for giving Fall the $100,000. If the government fails in this prosecution, it is unlikely that Doheny will be prosecuted. Fall is under indictment charging he conspired with Sinclair to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome lease, but Sinclair was recently acquitted by a jury after the indictment was severed, and some legal men say that this indictment cannot be pressed successfully as only two were named in the alleged conspiracy.

Doheny advanced the $100,000 to Fall late in 1921. He got the Elk Hills leases, a naval oil exchange contract involving one of the richest fields in the country, a few months later. The government will attempt to show that the money influenced, and was designed to influence, Fall's official action. The defense is expected to try to show that it was just a gesture of a long friendship, in which the multimillionaire oil man advanced money to help his old friend out of financial difficulties caused by bad years in the cattle business.

TULSA STAGES EXPOSITION OF OIL ACTIVITIES

Sixth Annual Petroleum
Congress Expected to Draw 100,000

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 4.—(UP)—Although the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress, opening its sixth annual session here today, takes no part in political activities, the program of this world's gathering of the petroleum industry is following lines expected to show the international situation in its different lights, according to W. G. Skelly, president of the exposition.

Visitors from the Old World will be given a view of the industry at its highest peak of development in the fields of exploration, production, piping, storage, refining, natural gasoline manufacture, cracking, hydrogenation, coal tar utilization, marketing and consumption, the president points out.

"The $10,000,000 exhibition of instruments and equipment," Skelly explains, "is in itself of enormous benefit to men interested in the Russian, Roumanian, Polish, Persian, Indian, Dutch East Indies, Venezuelan, Mosul and the smaller fields of Asia, Europe and South America. But the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress, oil men seem to agree, offers a still greater gain from the world viewpoint.

"Something more is bringing representatives from the important corporations of England, Belgium, France, Roumania, China, Japan, Venezuela, Argentina, Mexico, Germany and Canada.

"The World's Fair of the Oil and Gas Industry" offers a forum attended by more than 100,000 interested persons, where the oil and gas men of the world are urged to state their cases.

"The directors of the American Petroleum Institute are holding their board meeting at the exposition," Skelly continued, "the institute's division of development and production engineers presents its papers in the exposition's auditorium; papers of vital interest will be read in the exposition sessions of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and more than a score of other influential organizations are taking part in the programs.

Subjects on Agenda

"How America trains her engineers; the organization of research departments similar to our Bureau of Mines; symposiums of geological structure; production and gathering systems; transportation, storage and sales; refining of light oils and testing methods; corrosion problems; crooked holes; rotary drilling; automatic control equipment; cracking systems; anti-knock motor fuels, comprise a list of subjects suggested for discussion.

"The meetings of the Independent Producers Association at the exposition should be of special interest to foreign delegates. This association has thousands of members although it was organized less than three months ago, and is carrying on a vigorous campaign to place a tariff on crude oil.

"The International Petroleum Exposition and Congress can give a well-rounded, unbiased presentation because executives of the larger corporations, including importers, as well as independent operators, make up the official staff and board of directors," concluded Skelly.
